A MILD SENSATION

Created in the Course of the Reynolds Trial Yesterday

THROUGH ATTEMPT TO IMPEACH

THE REPUTATION FOR TRUTH AND VERACITY OF MR. OGDEN MADE BY MR. HOWARD, OF COUNSEL FOR THE DEFENSE. THE COURT INTERFERED AND THE TESTIMONY OF MR. TANNEY WAS STRUCK FROM THE RECORD—STATE WILL REST TO-DAY.

A rather sensational development in the trial of F. W. Reynolds, on the charge of embezzlement while secretary of the Guarantee Loan & Trust Company, came out yesterday afternoon during the cross-examination of Charles H. Tanney, manager of the Register.

Mr. Tanney had been summoned as a witness by the prosecution, to testify regarding a check issued to the Register by Reynolds, and signed, "F. W. Reynolds, secretary." On direct examination he had been unable to state for what the check was given. He was excused and given an opportunity to enlighten himself by an examination of the books of his office. On re-direct examination he stated that the check was for an advertising notice of the Guarantee company in his paper. The state then waived further examination of the witness, for the reason that its supposition that Reynolds had given his official check in payment of a private bill was shown to be incorrect.

The witness was about to leave when Mr. Howard, of counsel for the defendant, created a stir by asking this question:

"What do you know of H. C. Ogden's reputation for truth and veracity?"

The question took the witness by surprise and he hesitated before answering, at the same time glancing in the direction of Mr. Ogden who was seated near Prosecutor Meyer and Mr. Coniff. Finally he answered:

"Well, I don't know much about it."

Mr. Howard insisted upon a more satisfactory answer, whereupon the witness said:

"I suppose his reputation is all right."

At this point Judge Huges inquired for what purpose the witness had been questioned along this line, and Messrs. Meyer and Coniff objected, the latter going so far as to claim that Mr. Howard was lacking in respect for himself in adopting such a line of conduct in fighting his case. The latter, however, stuck to his colors and asserted that Mr. Ogden had been responsible for the prosecution of his client, and he proposed to attack and disprove Mr. Ogden's reputation for truth and veracity.

After a lively discussion that seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by the spectators, the court interfered and instructed that the questions put by Mr. Howard and the answers by Mr. Tanney be struck from the record.

To this Mr. Howard entered an exception.

A large number of witnesses were examined yesterday, including local treasurers of the Guarantee company, who testified to having made payments of dues to the company during the period, July to December, 1897, during which it is alleged Reynolds' defalcation occurred. The witnesses were, as follows: D. C. Harkins, of Cameron; L. E. Martin, of Metz, W. Va.; W. H. Hunter, Moundsville; W. H. Fout, Elkins; C. L. Parker, Hinton; S. W. Criss, of Colliers; John G. Gregg, of West Union; T. F. Rowan, of Monongah; R. Springer, of Colfax, and A. P. List, of Roncverre.

Dr. H. L. Henry, of Grafton, testified to having paid the amount of a loan he had received from the Guarantee company, by accepting and paying a draft drawn upon him by Reynolds, secretary of the company. The amount was $349, and the state claims that no entry of this transaction was made upon the books of the company.

Lee S. Sandridge, a traveling auditor of the company, testified to having sent a statement made by him to Reynolds at Washington, and of which the state claims there is no evidence of the company having received.

Mrs. A. B. Young, owner of the property rented by Reynolds, testified to having been paid by Reynolds with a check signed by him as secretary of the Guarantee company.

C. A. House testified that Reynolds had paid him for a place with a check upon the company's funds. C. D. Vernon, of the Wheeling Creamery company; Miss Nesbitt, a music teacher; C. P. Flick, the lawyer, and J. W. Ferrell, clothier; A. S. Hare, cashier of the Natural Gas Company of West Virginia, and other witnesses made similar statements.

The last witness of the afternoon was Miss Pearl Reynor who has acted as an assistant to Reynolds in the office of the Guarantee company. She was examined at length on direct examination and identified entries made by Reynolds and herself in the books of the company. Among other papers she identified the cash receipt book, including three sheets of this book that were cut out and later recovered at Washington City by Mr. Ogden.

Miss Reynor was put through a lengthy cross-examination by Mr. Howard, which had not been completed when court adjourned at 5:30 o'clock. The witness stated that she could not point out any false entries in any of the books that were submitted to her, and said there was none of her entries in the books that had been changed or erased by Mr. Reynolds.

It is expected that the state will rest its case to-day, after which the witnesses for the defense will testify.

LEWIS HEARING

Set for Saturday—A Number of Witnesses to be Summoned.

Frank Lewis, whose arrest on the charge of assaulting Mrs. George Niedermeyer, of Boggs' run, was noted in yesterday's Intelligencer, will be given a hearing before Squire Riddle on Saturday. It was the intention to have the hearing last night, but there are a number of witnesses to be brought from a distance, and the postponement was made to accommodate them.

Mrs. Niedermeyer was unable to identify Lewis last night at the Benwood lock-up. There are two witnesses, a man and a woman, who say they are certain Lewis is the man who emerged from the tunnel after the assault. As stated yesterday, Lewis' home is Viola, Marshall county.

THE VOICE OF THE BUGLE.

Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippines Hear the Charge Sound.

The war that for a long time was desultory has become the battle terrific. The tented villages have disappeared, and now it is forward along the whole line to the measure of drum beat, and rifle crack and cannon roar. Old Glory is being carried to victory on foreign shores, not with the sweat and blood of our heroic soldiers and marines, but stainless of cruelty and dishonor. The history of this great conflict is of astounding interest, and it is the duty of every loyal American to follow it by means of the most graphic and reliable information obtainable. All the news is being promptly furnished by the Intelligencer, but in addition to the historic record given day by day, the Intelligencer is now supplying its readers with the greatest, grandest, and, in every sense, the most truly magnificent war portfolio that was ever conceived, entitled "Our Nation in War."

THE BUTCHERS' PICNIC.

The Rain Was a Discouraging Feature, But the Outing Went On.

The butchers' association of Wheeling is made up of men who do not flinch in the face of discouragement. Their annual outing was held at Mozart Park yesterday afternoon and last night, and in the face of the rain of the morning and afternoon the butchers scored a success that would not have been possible had the promoters been less determined.

Even the parade, which was scheduled for the morning, was not called off, and in the face of the rain the butchers paraded the streets and thus made known to the public that the outing had not been abandoned.

In the afternoon and evening, the butchers entertained a large number of their friends at Mozart Park. The attendance last night was very good considering the weather and indicated what a signal success would have been achieved with good weather. There were a number of contests that were greatly enjoyed, and during the evening there was dancing on the pavilion floor until an early hour this morning.

Will Henry won the foot race and Frank Tiegleback won the calf killing contest over his two opponents, Louis Snyder and James Roster.

RAIN INTERFERED

And Caused Postponement of Turners' Field Day to August 9.

On account of rain, the Turners' picnic scheduled for yesterday, was postponed until next Tuesday, when a big out-of-town attendance is promised. To honor the Turners' forty-fifth anniversary, however, the basket ball game between Wheeling and Steubenville was played last night at Turner hall, in the presence of a large crowd, and the evening was otherwise enjoyably spent.

Wheeling defeated Steubenville with ease, thus wiping out all question as to last year's game, which ended in a tie, 6 to 6. Last night the local boys made 16 to 0. They scored 4 in the first half, and 12 in the second. The following were the officials: Umpire, Prof. Koch, of Pittsburgh; referee, George Brandfass; time-keeper, Ed. Vass.

REVENUE RULINGS

Received from Commissioner Scott, of Internal Revenue Bureau.

A ruling has been received from Commissioner of Internal Revenue Scott to the effect that he amount of capital invested by a bank or banking house in United States bonds is not to be deducted in reckoning the special tax to be paid under the new revenue law. It is stated that banks which have made this deduction in their applications for the tax would do well to put in supplementary returns.

Another decision of interest to brokers was received. It is customary for brokers, when they make a sale, to tender a contract or memorandum of sale to both buyer and seller, one being virtually a copy of the other. The question was whether or not the intent of the law was to tax merchandise brokers' certificates ten cents on each sale, and if that were the case, whether the seller or buyer should hold the contract with the stamp affixed. The decision was: "No stamp is to be paid on copies of such contracts. The question as to who should hold the stamped instrument should be decided by the contracting parties."

Another ruling was that guarantee companies must affix a fifty-cent stamp on bonds to guarantee the fidelity of employees in addition to stamps of one-half cent on each dollar of premium charged, but this ruling does not apply to bonds executed and delivered in Canada unless countersigned by an agent in the United States.

The commissioner of internal revenue has issued the following circular in regard to the cancellation of internal revenue stamps: "In any and all cases where an adhesive stamp shall be used for denoting any tax imposed by the act of June 13, 1898, the person using or affixing same shall write or stamp thereon with ink the initials of his name and the date (year) in which the same shall be attached or used, or shall by cutting and cancelling said stamp with a machine or punch, which will affix the initials and date as aforesaid, so deface the stamp as to render it unfit for reuse."

There has been general interest in the test suits in Georgia against the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Southern Express Company, before the Georgia Railroad Commission.

Elaborate opinions were rendered in each case by Judge Spencer B. Atkinson. It was held that the express company in issuing a bill of lading was required to put a stamp on it in order to make it legal, and that the company had no right to exact the cost of the stamp from the shipper. The commission takes the position that by requiring the one-cent tax to be paid by the shipper the express company is in principle as much guilty of an overcharge as if it exacted $100 in each case.

In the case of the Western Union, the commission held that the company was not required to receive a message until it was stamped. It does not become a legal message until the sender puts the revenue stamp on it.
